South East Queensland Planning Scheme 2009

The South East Queensland Planning Scheme 2009 is the statutory planning framework for South East Queensland. It is the major planning tool for the region and provides the legal framework for planning. It sets out the strategic requirements and objectives for land use, economy, transport, water management and the environment for the region. The Planning Scheme also sets out the principles and processes for good planning and the role, powers and functions of local government. The Planning Scheme is the legal framework for all plans and related strategies and is the key piece of legislation for the delivery of good planning in Queensland.
