Disclaimer

Concrete is a blend of aggregate and other natural materials which may change the appearance and availability from region to region.

Hanson strongly suggests before you make a decision that you contact the Hanson Imagecrete Representative in your region for more information about ordering, colour availability and to view a sample. Not all colours in the brochure may be available in your region, especially those identified as requiring off-white cement.

Hanson reserves the right to alter, remove or replace these products without notice.
